

DOCTOR OF NURSING PRACTICE

(DNP)

WHY OUR PROGRAM?

As a graduate of the Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) program at Thomas Edison State University (TESU), you will have the skills and knowledge necessary to move to director and executive level positions in an organization — helping to advance and transform healthcare. Depending on what works best for you, you can enroll in one or two 3-credit courses each term. To receive your degree in 18 months, you will enroll in two 3-credit courses each term for six consecutive terms. If you prefer to complete your program over 36 months, you will enroll in one 3-credit course each term.

DEGREE/PROGRAM ACCREDITATIONS:

HELP ADVANCE AND TRANSFORM HEALTHCARE

Nursing is a dynamic profession that plays a vital role in improving the health and well-being of the community. The Doctor of Nursing Practice (DNP) is an online doctoral degree program with a specialty area in Systems-Level Leadership that prepares nurse leaders to function at the highest level in healthcare organizations. Through mentored practice, the DNP program will enhance your skills in organizational leadership, economics and finance, healthcare policy, population-focused care and technology.

PROGRAM ADVANTAGES

- ▶ 45 percent of our DNP graduates have been promoted to leadership and executive positions after completing the program.
- ▶ 100 percent of DNP mentors are doctorally prepared and leaders in education and/or nurse executive leadership.
- ▶ Student advisors and mentors provide close guidance and support throughout the entire program.
- ▶ You may integrate your DNP project with your current professional employment.
