A Tradition of Excellence: Thomas Edison State University

Thomas Edison State University provides distinctive undergraduate and graduate education for self-directed adults through flexible, high-quality collegiate learning and assessment opportunities. Cited as “the college that paved the way for flexibility” by The New York Times and one of the top 20 colleges and universities in the nation in the use of technology to create learning opportunities for adults by Forbes magazine, Thomas Edison State University enables adults to build on their past achievements as a bridge to their future success.

The University offers the highest quality education to adults who have the inspiration, self-discipline and energy to complete a college degree despite the many conflicting demands of career, family and community. Founded in 1972, this world-renowned institution offers associate, bachelor’s, master’s and doctoral degrees in more than 100 areas of study. Thomas Edison State University provides adults from every state in the United States and approximately 60 countries throughout the world with a wide variety of ways to complete a quality degree.

Thomas Edison State University pioneered the awarding of college credit for knowledge obtained in noncollegiate environments through its prior learning assessment (PLA) programs, led in the development of taking college courses at a distance through the use of technology and is one of the nation’s leading providers of worldwide education for members of the United States military.

The University’s Kelsey Building is recognized as one of the most important visual landmarks of the Trenton, N.J., State House Historic District, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. Originally built by Henry Cooper Kelsey, a banker and politician with an appreciation for the arts, the Kelsey Building is a memorial to his wife, Prudence Townsend Kelsey, who died in 1904. The building was dedicated in 1911 as the School for Industrial Arts. In 1979, when Thomas Edison State University was looking to move from office space it had outgrown in the Forrestal Center outside of Princeton, N.J., the state was looking for an appropriate tenant for the landmark Kelsey Building, while the city sought to preserve the building’s historic use as a school. All three concerns were brought together when state Senate President Joseph P. Merlino persuaded Gov. Brendan T. Byrne that, along with five adjoining townhouses, the Kelsey Building was ideal for Thomas Edison’s expansion.

Although the vibrancy of the University’s student body is felt across the globe, the physical campus surrounds the state capitol building and the New Jersey State Library, contributing to a dynamic downtown community.

In the true spirit of inspiration and innovation, Thomas Edison State University will continue to reinvent the future of higher education.

Academic Heraldry: The Symbols of Learning

While the current code concerning the types of academic regalia to be used by colleges in the United States dates from 1959, distinctive academic dress dates from the medieval universities of the eleventh and twelfth centuries. The college or university commencement procession today is a pageant, alive and bright with dress and ceremony derived from the tradition of the oldest universities.

Academic life as we know it today began in the Middle Ages — in Bologna and Paris, Oxford and Cambridge, Edinburgh, Glasgow and Louvain — first in the church, then in the guilds. The teaching guild was the Guild of the Master of Arts, where the bachelor was the apprentice of the master and the dress was color-coded and patterned according to the academic level and discipline. In the hierarchy of the academic world, the associate degree is the modern entry point. Its equivalent in the guild of teachers was that of a junior apprentice. Twelfth-century records of Oxford University state this justification for academic dress: “It is honorable and in accordance with reason that clerks to whom God has given an advantage of the lay folk in their adornments within, should likewise differ from the lay folk outwardly in dress.”

There are three principal features of academic dress: the gown, the cap and the hood. Their design and heraldry were, from as early as the eleventh and twelfth centuries in the great European universities, the outward sign of the bringing together of students and privileged persons under the same discipline.

To preserve their dignity and meaning, it became necessary early on for these universities to set rules for academic dress. American universities agreed on a system in 1895 and set up a suitable code of academic dress for the colleges and universities of the United States. In 1932, and again in 1959, the American Council on Education revised the code that, for the most part, governs the style of academic dress today.

THE GOWN. The flowing gown comes from the twelfth century. Many think it was worn in olden times as protection against the cold of unheated buildings. It has become symbolic of the democracy of scholarship, for it completely covers any dress of rank or social standing. At Thomas Edison State University, the associate degree gown is burgundy. The gown is black for all degrees above the associate, with pointed sleeves for the bachelor’s degree; oblong sleeves for the master’s degree; and bell-shaped sleeves for the doctor’s degree. For the bachelor’s and master’s degree, the gown has no trimmings. For the doctor’s degree, it is faced down the front with velvet and has three bars of velvet across the sleeves in the color distinctive of the faculty or discipline to which the degree pertains.

THE CAP. When Roman law freed an enslaved person, they won the privilege of wearing a cap. Thus, the academic cap is a sign of freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity with which scholarship endows the wearer. Old poetry records the cap of scholarship as square to symbolize the book, although some authorities claim that the mortar board is the symbol of the masons, a privileged guild. The color of the tassel on the cap is black or burgundy. The associate cap is burgundy. Caps for master's and doctor's degrees are often black, but may appear in other colors as well, depending on the rest of the regalia.

THE HOOD. Almost all of the students and faculty in the medieval universities were clerics (minor church ecclesiastics) and were tonsured (i.e., had shaved heads), and the hood served to cover the shaved head from the cold of unheated buildings. Eventually, the hood was superseded by the skull cap and evolved into a headdress more or less like those in use today. Heraldically, the hood is an inverted shield with one or more chevrons of a secondary color on the ground of the primary color of the college. The color of the facing of the hood denotes the discipline represented by the degree; the color of the lining of the hood designates the college or university from which the degree was granted.

THE MACE. The mace — a heavy staff or club fashioned entirely of metal with a metal head — was originally a weapon of war. In the sixteenth century, it became a ceremonial standard and a scepter of office. It resembled the original weapon and was carried before officials at ceremonial occasions. A mace is still in use in the British House of Commons, where it lies upon the table before the speaker as a symbol of the authority of the House.

The mace of Thomas Edison State University was designed by the University and was inaugurated as the scepter of office at the October 1990 Commencement ceremony and updated in 2016 to reflect university status. It is a solid maple scepter with a two-sided medallion mounted to the head by a brass collar. There is a brass band on the top, upon which the names of the University's four presidents and their terms are inscribed as follows: James Douglas Brown Jr., 1972-1978; Lorraine Rose Matusak, 1979-1982; George A. Pruitt, 1982-2018; and Merodie A. Hancock, 2018-present. The mace shaft and base are finished in mahogany.

Carried in the procession by the president of the University Academic Council, the mace symbolizes the authority of the Office of the President.

National Anthem

Lauren Hart, B.A. '96

Lauren Hart is a Philadelphia-based singer/songwriter and composer who completed her Bachelor of Arts degree in music in 1996 at what was then Thomas Edison State College. Her voice and songs have been heard in films and television series, and her critically acclaimed National Anthem is featured in the Disney film Miracle. Hart also sings the anthem before every Philadelphia Flyers home game, a tribute to her late father, legendary National Hockey League Hall of Fame announcer Gene Hart, known for 30 years as “The Voice of the Flyers.”

She released her eighth album, Lovelight, in 2022, and she has performed on the CBS Morning Show as well as NBC, ABC and Fox’s national broadcasts. During her career, she has opened for fellow musical artists Fiona Apple, Tori Amos, Train and 10,000 Maniacs.

She ventured into the world of composing for film and television, scoring the documentary Race to the Bottom of the Earth before it went on to win the Los Angeles film festival. She has since written original music for documentaries focused on social justice and politics. In 2012 she became composer for the Travel Channel’s travelogue series Dangerous Grounds.

Hart has taken her inspirational story of being a cancer survivor around the world. She is an activist, and her passion for music is matched only by her passion for social change and justice, supporting Moms Demand Action, Everytown, International Justice Mission, World Wildlife Fund and the Gene Hart Memorial Fund where she helps to oversee college scholarships and contributions to cancer research and patients.

Hart recently served as Philadelphia chapter president of The Recording Academy (Grammy Awards) and has been on the board for many years. She also sits on the board of the Philadelphia Orchestra. She was named Humanitarian of the Year by the Friends of the American Cancer Society in 2010.

In both roles, she has appreciated the opportunities to connect TESU with the community and fellow graduates.

She has also been a member of the Board of Trustees at Susquehanna University (SU) since 2020, where she also serves on the Board’s Governance and Philanthropy committees. Having earned her undergraduate degree in communications/theatre arts in 1996 at SU, Frantz initially worked in professional theater before joining the higher education community at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, in 2002. She earned her Master of Public Service Leadership from TESU in 2020.

Honorary Degree Recipient

Steven R. King, MBA '15, BSBA '93

A School of Business and Management alum and valued TESU Foundation board member, Steven King is a distinguished leader with 25 years of progressive experience in the information technology and financial services sector.

King currently serves as a managing partner of Tulloch Investments LLC and an investor and strategic advisor for early-stage technology companies. Before that, he served as the executive chairman of open-source content management system software company Nuxeo (later acquired by Hyland Software), and CEO of Recommend Inc., a leading provider of eDiscovery and information analytics (later acquired by OpenText). He is also the former president and CEO of DocuSign, ushering the company to more than $20 million in revenues. Under his prior leadership as CEO of Zantaz Inc., the company emerged as a market leader in cloud-based content archiving and e-discovery solutions. King also served in multiple C-suite positions at E*TRADE and its pioneering online investment bank E*OFFERING. He currently sits on the boards of multiple startups.

King joined the TESU Foundation Board in 2013 and currently serves as co-vice chair and a member of the Board Development Committee. He and his wife Kay's philanthropic interests include supporting initiatives that remove barriers to student success. The Kings also funded TESU's Zero Textbook Cost courses program which has saved students more than $2 million in textbook expenses to date.

King embodies TESU's values of innovation, perseverance and leadership, and he is a true ambassador of the University's mission.

On Behalf of Graduates

Frank Orlando, BSBA '23, A.S. in Business Administration '22

Frank Orlando, a dedicated JetBlue Airways Corporation employee and TESU graduate, exemplifies the power of persistence and educational partnership.

Orlando bypassed college at 18 to attend acting classes in New York City while marketing and promoting clubs and event venues. Though he eventually garnered years of on-ground experience and college credits, he had no degree to show for it. That impasse would take a pivotal turn with JetBlue Airways Corporation, where he said that he discovered his passion and purpose.

Starting as a Ground Operations team member, Orlando's respect for his colleagues' dedication and the physical demands of their roles fueled his desire to make an affirmative mark. His subsequent efforts in the BlueUnity program launch, which fosters collaborations between the airline's leadership and frontline employees, helped to enrich the company's organizational culture.

Inspired to return to his degree pursuit, he credits the JetBlue Scholars program, in collaboration with TESU, for providing flexible degree opportunities and converting his professional training into credits toward his degree. His coursework also allowed him to apply theoretical knowledge to real-world business challenges, increasing his career momentum.

May 2024 marked his 10th year with the airline. He was recently promoted to the role of senior analyst, Cobrand Digital Acquisitions. Orlando said his accomplishments are a testament to the support of his family and the unique opportunities provided by JetBlue and TESU.

Thomas Edison State University

~ Alma Mater

Hail Our University

Composed by Patrick Valentino

We travel on our journey, begun so long ago; the path we saw before us had turns we did not know. But travel on we had to, through turns and hills and snares; we saw our goal before us, and journeyed ever there. And we say hail our University, a new path has begun.

We travel on along life's way with Thomas Edison.

Some paths go unexpected to places undefined; but in the strangest places it's learning that we find. For all paths lead to knowledge, and knowledge to new ways; our journey drives us onward through all our trav'ling days. And so we hail our University, a new path has begun.

We travel on along life's way with Thomas Edison.

When storm clouds hang before us, and night obscures our trail, we shall not stop nor stumble for knowledge lifts the veil. A light that shines in darkness to lead us on our way, we travel on, and shine as well, beacons for the rest of our days! Hail our University, a new path has begun.

We travel on along life's way with Thomas Edison.

We travel on along life's way with Thomas Edison.
